DETAILED ACTION

The amendments to the claims filed 01/10/2007 have been entered. Any rejection/objection not addressed in the office action below have been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Applicants arguments/remarks filed 12/05/2006 have been fully considered but are not considered persuasive.

Claims 1-8,10-11, and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Morrissey et al. (US 6,106,820), for the reasons expressed in the office action dated 08/31/2006.

Applicant assert that Morrissey does not teach a polymer with a hydrophilic backbone and a hydrophobic polystyrene side chain.

The relevance of this assertion is unclear. Morrissey clearly teaches that the backbone can be derived from hydrophilic monomers, hydrophobic monomers or mixtures thereof, some of the preferred monomers that can comprise the backbone includes acrylic acid, dimethylacrylamide, methacrylic acid and mixtures thereof. The examiner notes that all of the examples in applicant's specification included acrylic acid and dimethylacrylamide as part of the main chain. Also Morrissey clearly states that the side chains can be derived from either hydrophilic or hydrophobic monomers and even list styrene as being a preferred monomer. See col 4 lin 7-col 6 lin 52.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4,6-8,10-11,16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shah (US. 5,942,243, cited by applicant), for the reasons expressed in the office action dated 08/31/2006.

Applicant asserts that Shah does not disclose if the composition within will adhere to the skin.

The relevance of this assertion is unclear. Applicants claims as currently amended do recite a bioadhesive film forming composition, but the examiner disagrees that the composition would not be capable of adhering to the skin. As currently claimed to meet a bioadhesive film-forming composition it must be comprised of a graft copolymer comprised of polystyrene and at least one acidic monomer(s), a water-soluble polymer and hydrophilic and/or hydrophobic carriers. Since Shaw discloses the same composition it will obviously have the same properties and/or effects. It appears that applicants are simply claiming a new use/function or unknown property of an old composition. Where the claimed and prior art products are identical or substantially identical in structure or composition, or are produced by identical or substantially identical processes, a prima facie case or either anticipation or obviousness has been established, Thus the claiming of a new use, new function or unknown property which is inherently present in the prior art does not necessarily make the claim patentable. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1254, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977).

Claims 1-8,10-11,16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shah (US. 5,942,243, cited by applicant) in view of Morrissey et al. (US 6,106,820), for the reasons expressed in the office action dated 08/31/2006.

Applicants state that since the backbone of Morrissey is opposite of the backbone of Shaw that there is no clear indication to combine.

As disclosed above Morrissey does disclose a hydrophilic backbone as in Shaw, therefore they obviously would be combinable with each other, and the use of Morrissey would not counter Shaw.

Conclusion

No claims are allowed at this time.

Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

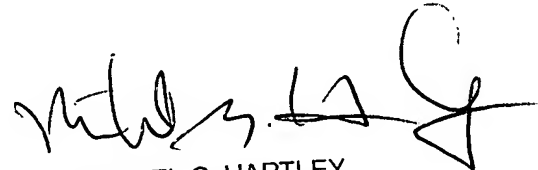

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
